Human Capital Management - Employee Profile

FUNCTIONAL SPECIFICATION DOCUMENT

Executive Summary

This Functional Specification (FS) outlines the detailed functional requirements for the Human Resources (HR) Management System being implemented at the German University in Cairo (GUC). Serving as a bridge between business requirements and technical design, it ensures alignment among stakeholders, business analysts, and the development team, while providing a reference for testing, quality assurance, and future enhancements. The system will replace manual HR processes with a centralized, secure, and automated platform supporting core HR functions, including employee information management, self-service features, manager insights, advanced search and reporting, and system configuration. Organized by Business Processes, each representing related user stories, the FS is intended for HR leadership, department managers, IT management, the development team, and quality assurance professionals.
